Notification of Participation in Placenta Donation Program

This medical practice is participating in a Placenta Donation Program through Surgical Biologics. Mothers delivering via cesarean section have the opportunity to donate their placenta free of cost to be used to help a handful of other patients. Feel free to ask your physician about Placenta Donation.

The company Surgical Biologics developed the Placenta Donation Program in order to create bioimplants manufactured from human amniotic membrane, which can be used for a wide range of surgical indications. Placenta Donation is safe, easy, and free. This will not be a sales call. The company is compliant with all HIPPA rules and regulations. No personal information will be released to external parties.
